Peter Beatty Dies In London Plunge

Young Aristocrat Told He Was Going Blind Prior to Leap

London, Oct. 26 (AP)—The Honorable Peter Beatty, son of a famed admiral and grandson of a Chicago merchant prince, Marshall Field, Sr., plunged to his death today from a sixth floor window in the fashionable Ritz Hotel.

He had just been told he was going totally blind.

The 39-year-old race horse owner fell to the ground at the rear of the Ritz, which is in Piccadilly, in the center of London.

Beatty, a handsome, wealthy aristocrat and friend of A. J. Hays Sulzberger, was born with a serious eye affliction. He spent thousands of dollars for operations both here and in America. Recently a specialist told him his dim sight was failing and he must face the fact it soon would be gone entirely.

"I am going up to the sixth floor to see a friend," he was quoted as telling his valet in the hotel lobby this morning. He went up in the elevator, and apparently was not seen alive again.

Tall and dark, Beatty had been described as one of England's most eligible bachelors. He was a brother of Lord Beatty and a son of the late Admiral of the Fleet Earl Beatty, hero of the Battle of Jutland in the First World War.

His mother, Ethel, was the only daughter of the late Marshall Field. She died in 1932 leaving him a fortune.

Beatty's sight was so poor that he was unable to see his horses run. He went to the tracks (Continued on Page 22, Col. 3)

Rules Committee to Give Report Later to Council

Kingston's "Planning Board" proposal was left with the Rules and Committee of the Common Council without opposition following last night's public hearing.

Its success, if and when officially approved, said Dr. George B. Robinson, assistant director, Bureau of Planning, New York State Department of Commerce, "is dependent upon the type of intent available."

A guest speaker brought here from Albany to answer technical questions on the proposal, Dr. Robinson stressed that "What you are after are citizens who are outstanding in that they have the confidence of their fellow citizens—those who carry through with deliberation."

Those attending were men directly interested in the proposal and included Robert E. Testes, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce; Albert Kurdt, secretary of the Chamber; Corporation Counsel James G. Connelley; City Engineer Arthur F. Halligan; Capt. Andrew S. Hickey, U. S. Navy, retired; R. Newcombe, Victor H. Roth, former 12th Ward alderman; Richard Kalish of the zoning board; James P. Byrne, Raymond W. Garrahan, W. D. Swartwout, regional manager, New York State Chamber of Commerce; Edward K. Lofton and Walter Donaruma, who spoke for the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

Twelfth Ward Alderman James E. Martin, chairman of the Laws and Rules Committee of the council, conducted the hearing, and ruled against any talks of political implication. Other members of the committee which will give a later report to the council are: Aldermen Edwin Sammons, James J. Carroll, Charles Cole and Alderman-at-Large Charles J. Turk.

Donaruma, speaking for the Chamber of Commerce, stressed that the "vital concern" of a planning board is "people—not structures."

The proposal was not a new one in the city, Donaruma said. "Back in 1914 Alderman McKibbin introduced a resolution for such a commission. It was defeated by a vote of 7 to 4."

As an alderman in 1928, he said, he introduced a similar resolution and it died in committee.

"This question," he stressed, "does not belong in politics and should not be in politics."

Benefits of city planning are so great, the speaker emphasized, "it is surprising why it has not been established as a regular function of our local government." Planning can be "performed by our existing municipal departments or contrived in a local planning board."

The board, if instituted here, he advised, "should have persons of imagination, foresight and good judgment," and its members "should be willing to devote the necessary time and energy to its purposes."

It should have a membership representative of various phases of community life, and should be empowered to "employ experts and necessary staff to do technical work," and should take advantage (Continued on Page 14, Col. 1)

Can't Overtax U. S. Charity, Cripps Tells Britishers

Only Real Solution Is Nation's Capacity to Produce to Meet Needs

London, Oct. 26 (AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps solemnly warned Britain today it could not exist on the charity of the United States.

Opening a two-day debate in the House of Commons on the government's new £280,000,000 ($784,000,000) economy drive, the chancellor of the exchequer declared:

"At the root of our success or failure lies our own capacity to produce. The only real solution for our difficulties is more and more economical and efficient production."

The cut in dollar imports—such as tobacco, food, cotton and gasoline—and a slash in government spending are essential, he said "but cannot of itself bring success."

He said Britain wants to be able to afford a high standard of living "not through the charity of some friendly people, but because we can and do produce enough currently to supply all our own wants."

Cripps said the "most acute of our own and the world's post-war economic problems has been that of the dollar-shortage trade."

"We still have a gap which is being filled by Marshall Aid and up till the date of devaluation it was also being filled by a heavy (Continued on Page 22, Col. 2)

Representatives of organized labor were dinner guests, Tuesday night, of State Senator Arthur H. Wicks to discuss projects underway in this area or planned for the near future.

Twelve spokesmen for various trades and crafts met with the Senate Republican majority leader in the Governor Clinton Hotel for the friendly party at which the men said they would support political candidates friendly to labor.

Although there was no formal endorsement, Republicans seeking office in the city election November 8, were lauded for their stand on housing and it was the consensus that many union members would rally to their support.

Candidates at the dinner with the labor representatives were Oscar V. Newkirk, seeking reelection as mayor; Joseph Kelly, his running mate for alderman-at-large; a member of the American Newspaper Guild, and City Judge Raymond J. Mino, running for that office.

"Having worked as a laborer myself on construction of the Ashokan dam, I thoroughly understand the problems you men face," Wicks said to the union members, "and you'll always find me sympathetic to labor."

Acheson Says Spy Charges Are 'Fixed'

Embassy Clerk Is Held Incommunicado Since Last Friday

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today spy charges brought by Czechoslovakia's Communist government against U. S. embassy employees in Prague are "obviously trumped up."

He announced, however, that the United States had "acquiesced to the request" to withdraw two accused American diplomats from their assignments in Prague. He said that the embassy is attempting to see a third American representative, who lacked diplomatic status and who was imprisoned Friday by the Czech government on spy charges.

The two regular diplomats whose recall the Czechs demanded 24-hour notice are John G. Heyn, assistant attaché in the political department, and Isaac Patch, the political attaché. The man thrown into prison is Samuel Mern, embassy clerk who has been held incommunicado since Friday.

Acheson disclosed that the State Department is preparing what he called a communication—evidently a strong note of protest—to be delivered to the Czech government but he said that no protest had been made yet.

This government's efforts, he said, have been directed toward getting an embassy representative into prison to see Mern.

Acheson opened his news conference by reading this statement:

"The recent charges of the Czechoslovak government that certain employees of the American embassy have been engaged in espionage activities resulting in the demand for the immediate departure of Messrs. Isaac Patch and John G. Heyn, assistant attachés of the embassy, and an embassy employee, have been obviously trumped up in order to intimidate further the local population and lay the grounds for further trials of the kind which is now common in the Communist dominated territories of eastern Europe."

"The charges are alleged to be based on 'irrefutable proof' and 'confessions' of Czechoslovakia citizens."

Return From Russia

Goettingen, Germany, Oct. 26 (AP)—German generals captured during the war are returning in increasing numbers from Russia. Eight have arrived at a transit camp near here. Four arrived a few days ago at a transit camp near Hof. They told camp authorities that the corporation's net income for the first nine months of this year was $135,233,409. This compared with $88,042,150 for the same 1948 period.

No sign of hope appeared for early settlement of either the coal or steel strikes. Hundreds of coal-burning passenger trains were cancelled as the government fuel conserving order went into effect today. Thousands of men daily were becoming idle as the coal-steel shortages became more acute.

Cyrus S. Ching, top government labor mediator, was due to return to New York today for further talks with U. S. Steel officials. He conferred with them there all last week without success.

Remarks of Olds Are Source of Encouragement

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP)—An industry leader's suggestion that a steel strike compromise is possible encouraged government officials today in their efforts to settle the coal-steel crisis.

These officials saw a chance of getting company-union peace talks started, on the steel pension financing dispute.

They pinned their hopes on remarks made by Chairman Irving S. Olds of the U. S. Steel Corp. in New York yesterday after a board of directors meeting.

Olds reminded newsmen that neither U. S. Steel nor the striking C.I.O. Steelworkers Union has made a direct move to resume negotiations since the strike began Oct. 1.

"It seems to me," Olds said, "the sensible thing would be to sit down and see how far we could get toward agreeing on a pension program. We might even reach some common ground on contributory, and non-contributory features."

The White House said that President Truman has no plans for intervention today in either the coal or the steel strikes.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters "I do not anticipate any action today."

"How about tomorrow?" reporters asked.

He said he could only speak for today and would have to speak tomorrow for whatever might be in sight at that time.

Other White House sources said the President has no immediate plans for action.

Ross had no comment on a request by the American Retail Coal Association for President Truman "to take immediate steps to end the coal strike."

He said Mr. Truman gets many telegrams and letters and he doubted if he had seen that one yet.

There was no indication whether the White House was waiting to see what happens to Olds' idea. He implied that the amount of proposed pension and insurance might provide a basis for bargaining. That issue has never come up, he said, because of disagreement over another matter.

U. S. Steel's directors, declaring a regular quarterly dividend, announced that the corporation's net income for the first nine months of this year was $135,233,409. This compared with $88,042,150 for the same 1948 period.

No sign of hope appeared for early settlement of either the coal or steel strikes. Hundreds of coal-burning passenger trains were cancelled as the government fuel conserving order went into effect today. Thousands of men daily were becoming idle as the coal-steel shortages became more acute.

Housing Project Is Wrecked by Blast That Injures 14

Buildings in Five-Block Area Rocked by Explosion; Cause Not Known

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 26 (AP)—Fourteen persons were injured, three seriously, when an explosion late last night ripped apart a four-apartment building in a housing project.

The blast and what residents of the stucco structure called a "flash of flame" left a mass of debris—caved-in walls, smashed furniture and crumpled roof.

Buildings in the five-block area were rocked by the explosion about 10:45 p. m. (C.S.T.). It threw some persons in nearby units in the Cedar Springs Housing project in North Dallas out of bed. Every one in the building was hurt.

Battalion Fire Chief J. W. Owens said he had no idea what caused the explosion.

Leroy Shannon, 28, said the blast occurred in his apartment. He said he had smelled gas for several days and had reported it to the maintenance man.

Shannon said "workmen repaired the stove in Mrs. Ballard's apartment today."

Local Churches to Unite in Campaign; Members of Congregations Will Conduct Calls

Plans for a community-wide campaign to impress upon the people of Kingston and immediate vicinity the importance of religion and of religious institutions and to urge them to attend their houses of divine worship were announced today by Stanley J. Matthews, local chairman.

Loyalty Sunday, November 13, the participating churches and synagogues will make a United Church Canvass, each church calling on its own membership.

The local campaign, Mr. Matthews said, will coincide with the nationwide drive of Religion in American Life, which will concentrate upon the period of November 1-24 to convey to millions of Americans the message: "Find yourself through faith. Come to church this week."

On the national scale, the message will be conveyed by means of mass media of communication—newspapers, radio, outdoor advertising, and car cards.

"Both nationally and locally," the chairman explained, "the purpose of the campaign will be to strengthen our moral and spiritual foundations and to bring home to the individual the incalculable service rendered by religion and religious institutions to the individual, the community, and the nation."

Would Fit Into East Thruway

Alternate Route Would Divide Heavy Traffic on West Thruway Now Underway

Work Next Year

Specifications Are Due for Approaches in Two Weeks Time

Two announcements today indicate that work on the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge will start within a year's time.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks of this city told a reporter this morning that specifications for construction of approaches and piers were expected to be ready within two weeks, and that bids would be let for the abutments early next year.

Superintendent Herman D. Tallamy of the State Public Works Department said in Albany that construction of a highway on the east side of the Hudson river as an alternate Thruway route into New York city is being studied.

Tallamy's announcement indicates strong sentiment for the bridge as a link for the two sides of the river in the new road plans.

Wicks, Republican majority leader of the State Senate, sponsor of the bridge bill with Ernest I. Hatchell, Dutchess legislator in Albany, said when it was introduced, said "I'm confident that actual work on the span will be underway next year."

The bridge has been a topic of discussion for years as the means of facilitating the traffic flow to and from the New England area.

In discussing the proposed east side of the Hudson road, running into New York, Superintendent Tallamy said, according to the Associated Press dispatch, the thought behind the possible alternate route is to divide expected heavy traffic on the 486-mile thruway, now under construction, as it means the congested metropolitan area.

The original plans call for the superhighway to swing south from Albany along the west bank of the Hudson and enter New Jersey near Suffern for its New York city connection via the George Washington Bridge.

The alternate route being considered would add a six-lane highway on the east side of the Hudson, "somewhere" north of George Washington Bridge, to pass through Dutchess, Putnam and Westchester counties.

Several small sections of the cross-state highway are under construction. Tallamy said earlier this year that it would take five years, more, possibly longer, to complete the work.

"The possibility that existing parkway systems through Dutchess, Putnam and Westchester counties could be utilized for the alternate route also is being considered."

Tallamy emphasized, however, that even if the alternate road were secured, it could not mean that the thruway would not connect with northern New Jersey as now planned.

Tallamy told a reporter his department was surveying highway and parkway needs of the state. He said the report should be ready early next year.

Asked about the alternate route, Tallamy said that the "practicability and desirability of such a route and its economic feasibility are still under study."

Any route change would have to be approved by the Legislature.

Governor Dewey and Tallamy already have approved construction of a $14,000,000 highway, 1,700-foot, suspension bridge over the Hudson in the Kingston-Rhinecliff area.

Tallamy declined comment, however, on the possibility that such a bridge would fit into a plan to swing the thruway across the Hudson at that point, and then join the northern Westchester county parkway system.

A public works spokesman pointed out that traffic congestion in Orange and Rockland counties, both west of the Hudson, was particularly acute.

He indicated that the alternate route would be a better route to consider because of that.

Cost of the thruway was estimated originally at $20,000,000. Later estimates jumped that to several million.

WELL FED

The Department of Agriculture has been engaged in a study of American eating habits over the period from 1909 to 1948. The conclusion to be drawn from the huge pile of resulting statistics is that we are eating better and more sensibly today than ever before.

This study indicates that we no longer stuff ourselves to repletion with starches and sweets, but consume well-balanced meals. We eat more, as a nation, and also to better advantage. Conscious of nutrition standards, the housewife provides dairy products to increase the calcium intake, green vegetables to provide vitamins, and plenty of fruit juices to furnish the ascorbic acid which is so important.

These trends indicate the power of education. Medical advisers have recommended a well-rounded diet, with fewer calories and more vitamins. Newspaper and magazine articles as well as commercial advertising have hammered home the importance of vitamins, which were unknown by that term in 1909, the first year of this investigation. There are some medical indications that education on the value of vitamins now needs to be tempered with news of their hazards, but people do know about vitamins and know that they are needed.

Not to be overlooked, as an element in the development of American eating habits, is the fact that we are fortunate not only in knowing what we ought to eat, but in being able, for the most part, to get it.

THE WONDER COIN

Whether the country ever got the good five-cent cigar it once was said to need is a matter of opinion, but there have been a huge number of five-cent items of goods and services in our history. Some of them remain despite the repeated assaults of inflation. A nickel still buys a candy bar or a soft drink, and wondrous machines have been devised to hand out such items in exchange for a five-cent coin. In fact, if there were more things which could be sold for a coin or two, life might be made almost automatic.

As some of the old five-cent items disappeared new ones have arrived to fill the gaps. A development of the automobile age is the parking meter. This little gadget has been resisted and ignored and maligned and, occasionally, hoodwinked, but like the little creatures of the insect world it seems to be capable of survival by the process of multiplication. In almost every city of any consequence it is now an accepted fact that the motorist who wheels his car into a parking space in the business section will give up a nickel to the meter on the curb, as his tribute for the privilege of parking for an hour or two.

There is one thing the parking meter in its present form does not accomplish. It is not able to produce a parking space at the drop of a nickel; the motorist still has to find his own opening. If someone can devise an accompanying machine which, on deposit of a nickel, will tell the searching motorist where he will find a vacant space, then the nickel would have good claim to the title of the world's wonder coin.

CONSIDERATE SHOPPING

How are your shopping manners? Do you disarrange carefully set up displays, hasten spoilage of fruit by pinching it, carelessly show lack of consideration? Dr. Ruth Ayres of New York, managing director of the National Consumer-Retailer Council, speaking at a recent meeting of food dealers in Washington, pointed out that such behavior costs the consumer money, besides adding to the problems of the store manager. She said: "The food destroyed annually over this country through careless handling by consumers in stores—a loss to the retailer—would feed everybody in Boston, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh for a week. Reducing this loss would help cut down the retailer's cost of doing business, a saving that could be passed on to the buyer."

She might have added a word for the manners of clerks at the produce and cash counters, where the foods selected by the customer sometimes are tossed into bags and boxes with complete unconcern for bruises which may occur from that time forward. Consideration for the interests of the other person, on both sides of the grocer's counter, can make food taste better.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

DISARMAMENT
 The impractical proposal of universal disarmament is constantly being propelled in the United Nations, by Soviet Russia. It is a one-sided proposition, for whereas the United States would abide by any agreement and hold itself open to inspection, Soviet Russia rejects inspection. From a certain standpoint, Soviet Russia is right because it has been traditional to accept the good faith of a sovereign state, but it has not been experienced that the good faith of Soviet Russia can be accepted. She has with regularity broken her treaty pledges, by a conscious and obvious misconstruction of terms.

Usually Russian proposals with regard to disarmament are aimed toward the elimination of the American stockpile of atom bombs. The Baruch Plan on this score, which required inspection and international control, which the Russians rejected. At no time have the Russians been willing to provide adequate data on their military establishment, although ours is so much public property that the navy and the air force are fighting the next war in the newspapers.

As an example of Russia's dilatory tactics, as far back as November 1946, Mr. Noel-Baker on behalf of Great Britain proposed that all members of the United Nations should report their troops and bases abroad and their troops in the regular armies, etc. Molotov had asked for limited data; Noel-Baker proposed that all the data be made available. This Molotov rejected. He refused figures as to the home forces and rejected that verifications on the spot be made.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, in that discussion, raised this question:

"... Why Mr. Molotov had argued that the inclusion of home forces would distract attention from forces abroad; was it because Russia's home army was so large that the figures would shock the world? Or might he have asked whether the military and political leaders who are at such a military establishment as Hitler's S.S. would be included."

In the 1947 meeting of the General Assembly, Hector McNeill made this very interesting point: "... There can be no systematic disarmament without a real basis in collective security. But as long as there is mystery and exclusion, then there is the probability of mistrust."

In 1948, it was proposed:

(1) All States must belong to the disarmament system. (2) Disarmament could take effect only in an atmosphere of confidence. (3) Such confidence would require the creation of the United Nations forces envisaged in the Charter, the effective control of atomic energy and peace treaties with Germany and Japan. (4) Arms must be limited to those indispensable to security. (5) There must be safeguards capable of detecting violations, and yet causing the minimum interference in the nation's lives. (6) Enforcement action against violators must be provided for.

As before, the two Soviet Representatives voted against this resolution.

However, at the same session, Soviet Russia proposed that all countries reduce their armaments by one-third. But all resolutions to get at the facts were opposed by the Russians, so that the question might rightly be asked: One-third of what? The phrase, one-third, was thrown out without the slightest statistical evidence or connection. This has been the Russian method, exasperating and confusing all other countries.

In July, 1949, Mr. Manulsky of the Ukraine denounced a French disarmament plan. Summarized, he said: No State conscious of its national dignity could allow foreigners to investigate its military archives. Those who were pressing for complete information about the atom bomb (U.S.A.) said that Soviet opposition to any plan aimed at restoring international confidence was based on their desire to conceal the extent of their armament.

France took up the fight for a worldwide census of non-atomic weapons and armed forces. Soviet Russia opposed that but here representatives continue to make speeches about disarmament and peace. And her agents in this country do the same. The point is that every effort toward gathering accurate data concerning conventional arms or the size of armies, toward disarmament, toward control and inspection has steadily been opposed by Soviet Russia. Yet that country all the time calls the United States a warmonger.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

NOISE CAUSES TIREDNESS

I write from time to time about the damage, not only to hearing but to general health, from noise, and have recorded the findings of the Noise Abatement Society of the United States. This organization has found that exposure to extremely loud sounds over a long period of time results in impaired hearing. The louder the sound, the greater the impairment or damage over a similar period. The longer the period of exposure to the same sound level, the greater is the hearing impairment.

The basic unit of sound measurement is a decibel, the lowest sound that can be heard by the human ear. It has been found that the noise level of an ordinary office is about 40 decibels, that of a busy street about 65 decibels and that of heavy traffic about 80 decibels. Research workers point out that the noise in a busy office lowers the working ability of the workers by as much as 40 per cent.

Dr. W. E. Grove, Milwaukee, in the "Journal of the American Medical Association," states that loss of hearing from exposure to noise at an injurious level is an occupational hazard, aside from occasional accidents, and is now entitled to compensation in 38 states as well as in the District of Columbia, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

While it is only fair that workers whose hearing is damaged by noise should receive compensation, there does not as yet seem to be compensation to workers and others whose nerves are damaged by noise. As pointed out before, the creator fashioned us with nerves and muscles so that when we hear a noise our nerves and muscles might tense in readiness to a fight. In about one-hundredth of a second from the time we hear the noise, our body is ready to do something about it. When you tense your nerves and muscles you use up energy and tire yourself just as much as if you struck a blow, lifted a weight or did other work. With constant noise, therefore, we keep our bodies always tensed, and we become tired even if at rest.

We should all try to avoid noise. Of course there will always be some "necessary" noises, but we should try to avoid making unnecessary noises.

Many men and women suffer from neurasthenia—mental and physical tiredness. Send today for Dr. Barton's helpful leaflet on this subject entitled "Neurasthenia." How to Ruin a Vacation

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—President Truman's warning that there must be a tax increase recalls the fact that Bureau of Internal Revenue experts estimate they could collect close to a billion dollars more annually without increasing taxes—if they had better income-tax enforcement.

Two years ago the 80th Congress chopped off a huge army of income-tax examiners, a group of hard-working, underpaid public servants who have the unpleasant but necessary job of checking on people's income taxes. While part of this cut personnel has been reinstated, the tax examiners are still woefully understaffed and able to inspect only a fraction of the returns.

On top of this has developed another tax-payment deterrent—namely, delays and wire-pulling in the prosecution of tax frauds. When the average taxpayer sees certain big shots getting away with spectacular tax violations, naturally he figures he is entitled to do the same.

This is not the fault of the Treasury tax examiners nor the prosecution officers of the Justice Department, most of whom are diligent public servants.

But when tax frauds are sent to U. S. district attorneys for criminal prosecution, interminable delays sometimes develop. Some district attorneys just do not want to prosecute. Sometimes local politics are involved, and since U. S. district attorneys are appointed under a political spoils system on the recommendation of local senators and congressmen, they are sometimes more inclined to take orders from congressmen rather than from the Justice Department.

Delayed Cases

But whatever the reasons, here are some tax-fraud cases which have been delayed or sidetracked between the Justice Department and the district attorneys in the field. In some cases no politics may be involved, but in any case the effect on the rest of the tax-paying public is bad.

Just outside Washington, D. C., the T-men found that the sheriff of Prince Georges county, Md., Earl Sheriff, had collected about $49,000 from gamblers during four years though he reported a

West Virginia Gambler
 Another interesting tax-fraud case was that of Bill Lias, well-known Wheeling, W. Va., gambler who originally pleaded guilty to cheating the government of over $1,000,000. After he entered his guilty plea, however, a considerate judge allowed Lias to withdraw his plea and face a jury. At the subsequent trial, U. S. Attorney Lee Spillers not only bungled the case, but was put in an extremely bad light when it was disclosed that he had once received a large political contribution from Lias. Incidentally, the Justice Department had wanted to try the case with a special prosecutor, but Spillers insisted on handling it himself.

In the end, Lias was acquitted, even though he once had pleaded guilty. Latest tax fraud case which has come to the attention of this column is that of W. J. Hardy and F. McKenzie Davison, the Arlington, Va., asphalt king who were recommended for criminal prosecution by the Justice Department last July. This delay in prosecution came only after one year's delay, and various discussions with attorneys which included one conference with Senator Byrd, plus talks with other Virginia politicians.

Four months have now passed since the Justice Department's recommendation for criminal prosecution reached U. S. Attorney George Humrickhouse at Richmond, and no prosecution has begun. However, when this column recently raised a question as to the reasons for the delay, Senator Byrd issued the following statement:

"Drew Pearson has by false statement attempted to involve me in a tax-fraud case. He is a master of the technique of smearing public men by the delay in prosecution. After denying that he had intervened on behalf of Hardy and Davison, Byrd continued: "Pearson has made other false charges against me and too frequently has made me a target of malicious innuendoes. But I do not intend to have him maliciously create in the public mind the impression that I am involved in a tax-fraud case."

If Pearson does not adequately correct these lies, innuendoes and innuendoes, I intend to sue him for libel."

This columnist has believed that, no matter what else might be said about him, Senator Byrd has always stood for honesty in government. Therefore a statement from the senator that he has intervened for the delay in prosecution, rather than a negative statement that he has not intervened on behalf of the tax violators would be much more welcome from him.

A mere neutral attitude regarding tax collection and any evasion is not enough if we are to avoid higher taxes next year.

Steel Strike Could Be Settled by Making Clear Statements of Fact Finders

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 26—Clarification of the statements made by the President's Fact-Finding Board could readily settle the steel strike.

This could be accomplished by recovering the board, provided both sides in the dispute agreed to make such a request.

Ever since the fact-finding report was made public, many different interpretations have been placed on what was meant by the board on the subject of social insurance as well as pensions.

The trouble seems to lie in the use of the words "contributory" and "non-contributory" with respect to the systems that might be used in setting up social insurance and pension plans. The board used both terms, but failed to indicate exactly how the use of either or both of the words could actually result in an adequate pension plan for the workers.

After all, the true objective of any social insurance or pension plan is to give employees adequate protection. Determination of the costs of furnishing an adequate system of social insurance and pensions involves many factors, as well as estimates by expert actuaries. The board frankly stated that its calculations were based on the union's estimates, and these, according to steel company experts, would by no means provide a $100-a-month pension, even including social security.

Originally it was contemplated that the social insurance features would be decided now and a joint study would be made on the subject of pensions in time for negotiations on the contract expiring in April, 1950.

The board itself undoubtedly did not intend to be different in its approach to the plans that should be used for social insurance as distinguished from those that should be used in the matter of pensions. But plainly there was a contradiction in the report. Thus, with respect to social insurance, after arguing that the general trend in private industry has been a non-contributory system, the board nevertheless said:

"Of course, as a result of bargaining, it is possible that the employer might agree that the employee should carry the 4 cents to buy some of the items in the plan at the level requested by the union, and that the workers should pay 2 cents or some other amount to buy other items requested. In any event, as pointed out above, 4 cents will provide a substantial social insurance program. By genuine good-faith collective bargaining, the parties might agree on any combination of social insurance benefits along these lines."

Here, without question the board indicated that it was not inflexible in its suggestion and that a way can be worked out by "genuine good-faith collective bargaining" to develop some plan that would be adequate and in which both parties would contribute.

In the case of pensions, it was never intended that that question be settled immediately, and the board recommended that a joint study be made. Then the board declared:

"The questions as to whether the payments should be a uniform flat one or should vary with the years of service and the rate of earnings, and whether there should be a minimum number of years to qualify for a pension, and what that minimum should be—all these questions should, we recommend, be left to collective bargaining after a full study has been made of all these factors."

The ambiguity lies in the use of the word "guidance." Certainly in any joint studies, the parties could well start out with a desire to develop a non-contributory plan and wind up with the discovery that it would not be adequate.

It is reported that the board members felt that the same distinction which applied to social insurance and the same thoughts which they had toward working out these matters by collective bargaining also could be applied to the pension issue.

It is on these ambiguous points that a clarification is needed. (Reproduction rights reserved)

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 25—The term "Liberal," which has a favorable sound and meaning to the people, actually is a synonym for Fascist or Nazi in its present applications. It is the label of Roosevelt and Truman, of David Dubinsky and his privately-owned Marxian political parasite, which is actually called the Liberal Party. It is the label of all the totalitarianists who hold that the American citizen is not mature enough to be trusted with the management of his personal affairs or his earnings.

They may be right. Thus far they have had their way in many impairments of the citizen's rights and freedom, but it must be said for us citizens that we were taken unwary. Naturally, we always thought well of propositions and characters advertised as "Liberal" and "Progressive."

So, when this Socialist movement came booming along, this European remedy related to vermin under dictators, and the corrupt Washington columnist-propagandists constantly called it a "Liberal" and "Progressive" movement, George Spelvin, American, was taken in. Spelvin may be too damn dumb, as Harry Hopkins put it, to understand. Or he may understand very well and prefer Fascism and Nazism, which are actually alike and both practically synonymous with Communism.

The true Liberal is a man who fights to be let alone and refuses to butt into the affairs of other men more than he absolutely must in the complex circumstances of modern American life. His motto is "Keep your dirty hands off me."

I am unquestionably one of the most liberal Liberals in the country. I have been such for about 13 years, or since a little after Roosevelt's second election. I thought I was Liberal down to then but I was mistaken. Actually, I was falling for Roosevelt's Nazi-Fascism. I fell for it because I was a sucker for his N.R.A., which was absolute Hitlerism, or his social security whereby the state compelled me to buy a phony insurance policy, took the premiums out of my pay and blew my money buying votes for Roosevelt, but by passive confusion.

Like practically all other Americans, I had no previous experience in that sort of thing. We didn't know what they were slipping over on us. I had several arguments with Hugh Johnson, the administrator, about the Nazi-Fascist character of his National

The New Deal propagandists turned on me with the foulest publicity that their dirty guns could muster. They called me a labor-baiter and a boss-lower. Frankly, it wasn't a pleasure to take this from ill-handled, intellectual academics, who were subsidized Harvard study-bugs when I was pushing a hand-truck in the stockyard, and a heavy-duty truck-trailer in a cub in Chicago and the bushes. From a lot of lazy, incompetent misanthropes who had been fired everywhere simply because they were no good and now blamed their failure on capitalism. And why shouldn't I? I was a boss-lower, they called me. I was a labor-baiter, they called me. I was a boss-lower, they called me. I was a labor-baiter, they called me.

One time they even called me a traitor. I was a traitor, they called me. I was a traitor, they called me. I was a traitor, they called me. I was a traitor, they called me.

Avert Milk Stoppage

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—Stoppage of milk deliveries to 11,000,000 consumers in the metropolitan area was averted early today by tentative settlement of a threatened strike of 15,000 milk drivers and handlers. An industry spokesman said a milk price increase as a result of the settlement is "a definite possibility." The settlement—reached after 60 hours of almost continuous negotiations and mediation—requires ratification by five locals of the A.F.L. International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Says Liberty Threatened

Elmira, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP)—Sen. John Foster Dulles made another bid for upstate votes today after telling an audience in New York City that the Democratic fair-deal program threatens human liberty. Dulles told the New York Herald Tribune Forum last night that there are "non-dangerous" ways to get better schools, protection of farmers, improved health, and other social gains. "But even if that were not so," the Republican U. S. Senate candidate said, "we should oppose means that barter freedom against the promise of material gain."

Now Seeks Job

Hollywood, Oct. 26 (AP)—A man who once made a half-million dollars a year in the movies now is advertising for a job. He is B. P. Schulberg, who between 1925 and 1932 was managing director of production for Paramount Studios. He ran full-page ads in film and trade papers yesterday, citing his third of a century service to the films and adding: "Industry loyalty is a two-way street."

Hearing for Brothers

Humbus, O., Oct. 26 (AP)—U. S. Commissioner Robert W. Newlon will hold a hearing for Benjamin, 34, and Burton Ransom, 35, who have been indicted for murder by a North Carolina grand jury in the slaying of Malcolm Shirley, 37, of Halls, Queens, N. Y., whose body was found September 7 in a water-filled gravel pit near Wadesboro, N. C. North Carolina authorities said the Ransoms were seen in Shirley's car after the New Yorker disappeared. Ben is held under $25,000 bond. Burton under $10,000. They were arrested by the F.B.I.

As Pegler Sees It

Hitlerian men and women who beat up innocent people, terrorize them, persecute them to break their spirit and make them submit, I was one of the first to perceive the crime of coercive unionism against our laws, our government and human dignity, and more honest in the cause of truth and freedom than those who tried to cry me down. They never faced the question. They couldn't reconcile this vicious brutality with their liberal pretensions so they dropped their eyes.

Now, years afterward, I find scoundrels who ran those riots admitting, with defiant smirks, that they had absolutely no right, no mandate to "represent" the employees of General Motors, Chrysler, and Republic Steel, and that they acquired their power over millions of us by a treasonous uprising against government and, in the final crisis, by the cowardice of Frank Murphy as governor of Michigan.

They now admit that the majority of the workers did not want to join the C.I.O. but were captured by Murphy's act of cowardice in refusing to enforce the law against insurrection in the plants. Abandoned by government, the management caved in, but it was the majority of the workers who were the great losers. They were caught in the open and compelled to join and submit to rules and discipline ordained by criminals and pay tribute to a criminal empire. From that misbegotten criminal state the New Deal-Nazi-Fascists spread out, encroaching on free territory and capturing slaves by the million. Now a dozen evil men hold a monopoly over labor and the power to throw the United States into bankruptcy and revolution.

So I say the real Liberal is the man who dares, against terrible abuse by ridicule and slander and the attribution of evil motives, to stand alone if necessary against the very beginnings of tyranny and usurpation. He will always find himself fighting an enemy who calls himself a Liberal, a Progressive and a Friend of the Common Man.

Four Die in Plane

Port Deposit, Md., Oct. 26 (AP)

A private plane plummeted out of an overcast sky and crashed into the side of a hill last night, killing four persons, including H. L. Straus, a wealthy horseman. The plane was owned by the American Totalizer Company, of which Straus was president. Others aboard were identified by state police as A. J. Johnson of Baltimore, general manager of the company; Wally Mayer of Palm Beach, Fla., the pilot, and Delton R. Osbourne of Palm Beach, co-pilot. The twin-engine plane left LaGuardia Field, New York city, about 5 p. m. (EST). A watch found in the plane wreckage had stopped at 8:17 p. m., indicating the time of the crash. Straus was president of Tropical Park race track in Florida.

The United States had 1716.8 deaths daily during 1930, or a total of 626,283 for the year.

Advise Religion
Be Used as Power,
Not as Plaything

The Rev. Dr. Halford E. Luccock, famous Methodist divine and professor of Homiletics at the Divinity School of Yale University, proposed that people should cease using their religion as a plaything and let it be a power, as he addressed the fourth Protestant Preaching Mission service Sunday night. The audience completely filled the sanctuary and balcony of the Rondout Presbyterian-Warps Street Baptist Church, for the service.

"You are the owner and master of your playthings; religion, if it is to have any profound meaning in your lives, must own and master you," said Dr. Luccock.

Drawing upon his own wealth of illustration and experience, the preacher demonstrated the way in which men's toys which have been built upon universal principles of law, have grown in creative possibilities until they have become mainstays of the social organization. "When the nation of men shall make an end of fetish worship, which is owning God, and begin to be owned by God, then shall come peace for the common man in all lands," he said.

The quartet of the host church, under the direction of Mrs. Henry Smith, sang the evening chorale, "Breath on Us, Holy Spirit," by Fairchild; John A. McCullough sang the offertory solo, "Fear Not Ye, O Israel," by Dudley Buck.

The Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, and the Rev. William R. Peckham, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, presided and led the congregation in the order of worship.

The Rev. Dr. Ellis Foster, minister to Old First Church, Presbyterian, Newark, N. J., will be the preacher at next Sunday's fifth mission service at the First Protestant Dutch Church, corner of Wall and Main streets, at 7:30 p. m. A city-wide invitation has been issued to the public to hear Dr. Foster.

Question Feinberg Law

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP)—The Feinberg Law's effectiveness in smothering Communists out of the state's school system is questioned by a member of the State Board of Regents. Welles V. Moot of Buffalo said yesterday: "Everybody who is really a Communist, who is so devoted to Russia that he would do anything he was told by Moscow, would sign any loyalty oath and not bat an eye." The controversial Feinberg Law, passed by the 1949 Legislature, directs the Board of Regents to draw up a list of organizations it considers subversive, and to bar from employment in the schools any persons belonging to such organizations. Court tests of the law are pending.

Kingston Plans For Home-Study Course for Adults

As its contribution to the advancement of adult education in keeping with this year's Education Week slogan "Democracy through Education," Kingston will co-operate with the New York State Education Department in its latest educational venture, a home-study course for adults built around radio listening and related studies in contemporary living.

Robert Hoderath, director of adult education for the Kingston public schools, states that this home-study course will be based upon the National Broadcasting Company's weekly series "Living, 1949." The broadcast will be held 7:30 to 8 o'clock each Tuesday evening beginning November 1. Dr. Edwin R. Van Kleeck, assistant state commissioner of education, will broadcast the home-study parts of the program.

"Listening, 1949" tells the story of the world today, the problems, the people, the places, the events that make up America in a changing world. Based on careful research, the program gives the story of contemporary living in the voices of the people who day by day make that story, the Presidents and diplomats, baseball stars, housewives, engineers, children stricken with polio and the men under fire of Congressional investigation. The program will close with a five-minute broadcast from the New York State Bureau of Adult Education designed to help home-study registrants make the most of this opportunity for education by radio.

Those registering for this course will receive by mail, weekly packets of study material, including pamphlets on the lessons and suggestions for related reading in current magazines. There will also be four questions, the answers to which are contained in the program. Written replies to these questions are to be sent in each week. Students who submit a total of 15 satisfactory papers during the 26-week period will be judged to have met the standards for accomplishment and will be awarded an education by radio citation upon the completion of the course. No charge for these services will be made to residents of New York state.

It is possible to register for this home-study course either individually or as the member of a listening group. "If, however, sufficient number of adults in the community register for the course," Mr. Hoderath said, "the adult education program of the Kingston schools will organize radio-study discussion groups for the added value which comes when a group of people, under good leadership, are able to discuss the issues of the problems presented in the radio programs."

Anyone interested in the programs may obtain additional information from Mr. Hoderath at the Vocational School, telephone 1864.

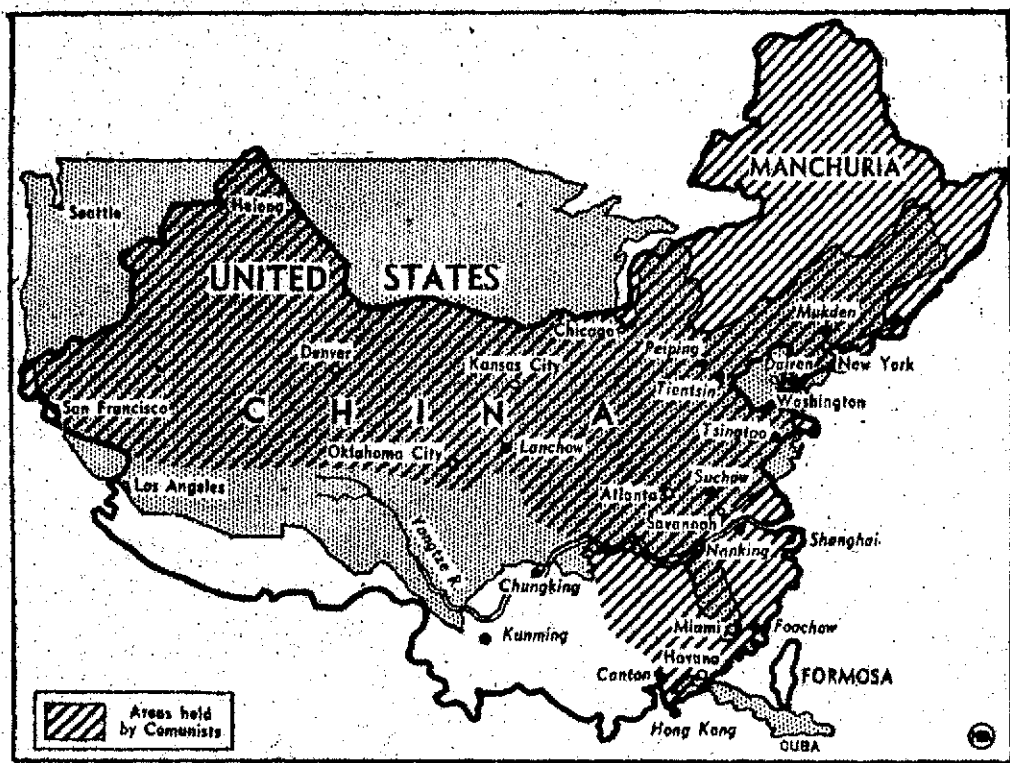

All in Hospital

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 26 (AP)—The Patrick Naughton family could almost hold a reunion without leaving the Mid-Valley Hospital at nearby Peekskill. On Monday, Naughton's three sons—Joseph, Patrick and John—were admitted to the hospital for tonsillectomies. Later in the day, their mother was taken to the same hospital and presented the boys with a brand new sister. P.S. Mr. Naughton is doing fine—at home.

Was Hard to Find

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP)—Reporters covering the steel-coal strike news lost track of Government Mediation Chief Cyrus S. Chang for several hours yesterday. One, calling his home, got Mrs. Chang. She was sympathetic but no help in locating her husband, a man 6 feet, 7 inches tall weighing 230 pounds. "It's like losing a bass fiddle, isn't it?" she laughed. Chang turned up later. He'd been negotiating with some steel-makers.

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

Today, I'd like to tell you about a talk I had with a doctor who is doing research work at one of the New York cancer clinics. He made me promise not to use his name because he was afraid he might be blacklisted by the foundation which pays his salary.

I began by asking him to sketch in his pre-research career.

"The usual ten-year grind," he said. "Four years of college, four more at medical school, a year as intern, and a year in residency training."

"What made you go into research?"

"Like a lot of young doctors," he said. "I couldn't get used to sitting by while a patient died simply because I didn't know anything else I could do for him. Every time I looked up into the eyes of relatives gathered around the bed of a man in the last stages of cancer, I told myself that my job wasn't to go on using money, but my wife wouldn't hear of it—she went out and got an office job and made me stick to my test tubes."

"How long did you work for free?"

"About a year," said the doctor, "and then the head of the medical center—a very decent guy—squeezed me onto the payroll at $28.57 a week."

"You could have earned more washing dishes."

"We managed to get by," said the doctor, "but the following year my wife had a baby and had to quit her job. After that, it was pretty rugged. As, for instance, we couldn't afford to buy a crib, and the youngster had to sleep in a donated baby carriage."

"Somehow, though, we bulled our way through, and by the end of the following year I had gotten a couple of research pieces published. With these to back me up, I applied for a fellowship paying $3,000 a year."

"Minus withholding tax, I presume."

"It may not sound like much, but I felt like John D., Jr., when the grant came through," said the doctor. "Last year, I went through the application rigmarole again—275 typed pages—and this time I got the full $3,600."

"What do you do to earn all that money?" I said.

"I'm in charge of three cancer projects and help on half a dozen others. On the side, I run a throat clinic, work in the wards and give seminars."

"Any chance of a raise?"

"I'm afraid not," said the doctor, "and, as far as fellowships are concerned, I'm getting near the end of the line. I'm 29 now, and the foundations don't like to make grants to men over 30."

"There's always the job in the industrial lab," I said.

"It may come to that," said the M.D., "but I hope not. No matter what it pays, I want to keep plugging away on cancer. It seems a lot more important than developing a new shade of face powder."

The day after our talk, I happened to pass the medical skyscraper in which the young doctor works, and I noticed that an additional wing was under construction. Dozens of steel workers, bricklayers and carpenters—all averaging around a hundred years—were getting in each other's way.

Over the half-finished entrance was a space which looked as if it might eventually be filled with a block of marble on which a fitting inscription would be carved.

"I know what it ought to be," I said to myself. "Too much for bricks, too little for brains." (Copyright, 1949, by Billy Rose) (Distributed by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Column on the post office the other evening brought response from John A. Cole, whose real estate office at 10 Crown street is in an old stone house where was located the first post office, according to records given to Mr. Cole by city historian, William C. DeWitt. It was not only the first postoffice building, but also the oldest stone building in Kingston, being built in 1648 by Jan De Hutter. Widow De Hutter lived there for a while after and sold it to Tuerck DeWitt, who sold it to the Tappan family. It was burned in 1777 by the English. The roof was damaged but luckily the walls, ceiling and floor were left intact and can still be seen. It is right across the street from another interesting old stone house, the Daughters of the American Revolution building near the uptown parking lot.

John Cole's office was known as the Grand-Aunt DeWitt's House. It seems during the time John DeWitt lived there, his daughter, Elizabeth also resided there. She was the grand-niece of city historian William DeWitt, and used to gather her nieces and grand-children and relate to them Indian stories. She also claimed she witnessed the burning of Kingston so the young fry received first hand information as to that sad event. According to the records of William C. DeWitt, the first postoffice building was at this spot around 1832-1834 and William Kerr was the first postmaster. He was father of Sheriff John W. Kerr.

Looking through Raphael Cohen's scrapbook I found "Mayor's Message, City of Kingston, dated March 10, 1890, signed John E. Kratt, Mayor." Quoting in part: "An ordinance of the Common Council, passed June 19, 1872, that the city treasurer shall report to the Common Council at its first meeting in every month, the condition of the finances and of each fund. I regret to announce that I am informed by the city clerk, that no such report has been received by him from the treasurer since March, 1886. These reports should be filed at once, and I recommend that the city clerk be added to the finance committee for the purpose of examining such accounts when presented."

Also "the expense of lighting our streets during the past year was $10,187.20. It is now over nine years since a contract was made with the gas company. Notwithstanding reduction in price of gas all over the country, and in this city to private consumers, the city has gone on from year to year, paying the high prices of years ago. Our contracts expire the first of May next. I recommend steps be taken to make an agreement much more favorable to the taxpayers of our city. The presence of an electric light company suggests the opportunity to secure our street lighting at much cheaper rates, thereby saving a considerable sum of money."

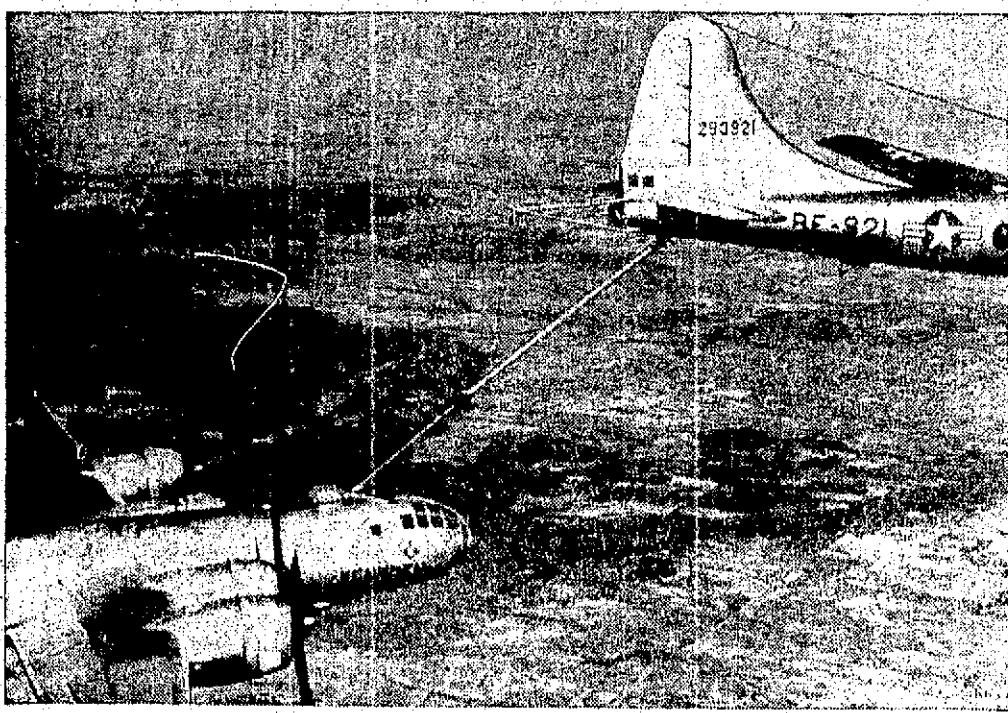

There is an excellent picture and part of a write-up on Mayor Kraft who was born in Kingston in 1853. He learned printer's trade at "Kingston Press" office. Later he worked on Freeman as foreman of composing room when Freeman was a morning paper. In 1876 he became business manager of Daily Freeman. Later he went with firm of O'Brien and Rogers during the time they constructed West Shore railroad and New York aqueduct. May, 1886, together with John W. Searling, Kraft bought the "Kingston Leader."

Coal Situation Bad

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP)—The Brooklyn Union Gas Company has advised the Public Service Commission that "an exceedingly grave catastrophe" unless the nationwide coal strike ends within two weeks. P.S.C. Chairman Benjamin F. Feinberg said yesterday the commission would conduct a hearing Friday (10 a. m.) in New York city to determine whether the utility faces an emergency. Feinberg also announced that the commission had asked all gas and electric utilities in the state, including municipally owned plants, to furnish weekly reports on the amount of coal they have on hand.

Hearing Continues

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—The arbitration hearing between union drivers and the joint management of the New York City Omnibus Corp. and the Fifth Avenue Coach Co. is scheduled to resume tomorrow at 10 a. m. The hearing will set the terms for the new contract between the companies and the C.I.O. Transport Workers Union. In yesterday's meeting, the companies continued presentation of their case against union demands.

Dulles Receives Thanks From Poles

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—The wives of two Polish refugees aided by Sen. John Foster Dulles (R-N. Y.) thanked him personally yesterday at a campaign meeting.

The Poles are Stanislaw Monseu, of 18 Jackson street, Glen Cove, N. Y., and George Pill, living near Locust Valley, N. Y.

Dulles' campaign headquarters told him this story today: Both men were interned by the Germans during the war and afterwards fled from the present Communist government of Poland, entering the United States on visitor's permits.

Seeking permission to remain here, the two appealed to Senator Dulles while he was visiting New York city, and Dulles arranged with Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N. Y.) to introduce private bills providing that the men and their families be allowed to remain in the U. S.

Pending action on the bills, any possible proceedings against the men were automatically frozen. Mrs. Pill and Mrs. Monseu, with the latter's three children, attended a tea for Senator Dulles yesterday at the Hotel Astor sponsored by the wives, mothers and daughters committee for the election of Dulles, who is campaigning to hold his Senate seat.

Monseu, a shipping specialist, is now working in the shipping business here. Pill was a Warsaw lawyer.

Building Destroyed

Cobleskill, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP)—A lighted match being used to locate a gas leak caused an explosion and fire which destroyed a three-story building here last night. One man was burned and seven persons were overcome in the blaze that wrecked the plant of the Snow White Laundry. Fire Chief Robert Northrup, who estimated the loss at $65,000, said a man had been called to look for a gas leak on the first floor and had struck a match.

Shoots Wife in Auto, Killed by Policeman

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—A dock worker fatally wounded his wife who had talked of divorce, and then was shot and killed by a policeman last night as hundreds in a late theatre crowd looked on. The victims, both shot in an automobile on Jamaica avenue in Jamaica, Queens, were:

Jerome Darby, 26, Negro, of 107-63 Merrick Road, Jamaica. His Negro wife, Louise, 21, who died at Queens General Hospital early today.

Police said they did not know the motive for the slaying of the wife, but were told of domestic discord.

The wife was shot as the Darbys were riding in the front seat with a friend, Roscoe Manney, 35, a Negro stable hand at the Jamaica race track, who was driving.

Police gave this description of the shooting:

Manney spied a pistol as the Darbys argued at his side, and he called "this guy's got a gun" to Patrolman John Buttmann, who was on traffic duty. As the patrolman ran toward the car, Darby shot his wife in the chest.

As the Negro raised the gun to fire a second time, another traffic patrolman, Ernest Witt, ran up and shot him, fatally. Manney escaped injury.

READ MAYOR NEWKIRK'S ANSWER

To the reckless demagogic and irresponsible charges made by the Democrat candidate for Mayor who in a speech last Thursday night told you that he is always truthful, honest and frank!

Speech of Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, October 24th, 1949

Well, ladies and gentlemen, since I talked to you last Monday night, things have been happening.

I was hoping the opposition would be willing to debate the issues of the campaign on their merits and to give the people of Kingston a change from the mud-slinging and name-calling which has too often characterized political campaigns in this city. But this, apparently, was too much to expect from them.

My Democratic opponent twists the meaning of a statement I made in June, 1948, in regard to the effect of increased assessments on taxes. He says that I published false figures, and that I knew they were false. By implication, he calls me a liar. He charges that while assessments were raised on your property, the assessments of the public utilities were NOT raised. In a paid political ad in The Freeman Saturday night, the Democrat candidate accused me of being a double-dealer, a double-crosser and of making secret, back-room deals with those companies.

Ladies and gentlemen, that is what I not only call a low blow, but it is a blow way below the belt.

Let me say this to you:

Before you elected me mayor, I was employed by the National Biscuit Company. I had daily business dealings over a long period of years with many of the merchants in this city. I have long been active in the fraternal and civic life of the community. Many of you good people have known me and my family for many years. I leave it to you whether I am a liar, a double-crosser and a double-dealer.

You know, too, that I am a working man and own a small home like most of you. I have never been connected with any public utility, nor have I any reason to curry favor with them or give them preferential treatment.

Now, I will refute the false charges which the opposition has made, point by point.

Point 1. My statements of June, 1948. First, let me give you the background of this assessment business.

You will recall that as early as 1942, former Alderman-at-Large John Schwenk, in an address before a service club, called attention to the financial crisis which loomed ahead for the city because of the two per cent tax limit and demanded that the Democrat administration then in power take some action to meet it. Again, in the city campaign of 1943, our Republican candidate for mayor made the two per cent tax limit his principal campaign issue and the opposition countered with a statement that there was no crisis approaching. An editorial in the local press demanded action, but there was no action during the six long years of the previous Democrat administration. Finally, their budget was declared unconstitutional because it attempted to raise by taxes more than was permitted under the two per cent limit.

When I assumed office, they left $40,000 in deficits for us to pay because they could not operate within the two per cent limit.

The cost of materials and supplies continued to rise. The people voted much needed increased wages for the police and fire departments. The wages of other city employees were also raised. This added thousands of additional dollars to the city payrolls. We could not pay those wage increases within the two per cent tax limit under existing assessments.

The financial crisis we had been predicting for years had arrived in a big way.

Something had to be done, and done quickly.

We could not eliminate or curtail any of the municipal services. We considered imposing sales and business taxes and decided against that. The only other course was a general increase in assessments to broaden the tax base.

When the assessment increase was announced, some thought a one-third increase in assessments meant a one-third increase in taxes. To prove that was not so, I issued a statement to the press in June, 1948.

I gave as an example, a property that was worth $7,000.00. I said such a property would probably be assessed for $2,500; that after the one-third increase, the assessment would be $3,300. I then said such an increase in assessments would permit the city in 1949 to raise $32,000 more in taxes, which is called "broadening the tax base." I also said that by raising this additional $32,000 the taxpayer owning the $7,000.00 house would have to pay $1.53 more as his share of the additional $32,000 which the city would be permitted to raise under the two per cent limit.

That was the example I gave. It was right when I gave it, and it is just as right today.

Six months after I made this statement, we adopted the 1949 budget. We raised this additional $32,000 to pay the increased wages voted by the people. Wages are a part of city operating costs and therefore come within the two per cent limit. When the property owner used in the example paid his taxes this year, he paid the $1.53 I cited as his share of this $32,000 in broadened tax base for city operating purposes. He also paid his share of increased costs which were outside the two per cent limit. And what were they?

Fifty-six thousand more than last year for bonds falling due to pay for money borrowed in previous administrations.

And eighty-eight thousand more than the previous year as our share of the county taxes. Payment of these costs which were outside the two per cent limitation account for the additional taxes we all had to pay.

Point 2. Assessments. First, let me say that the city's assessment system is neither modern nor scientific. It never has been. One city assessor cannot possibly reappraise the ten thousand properties in this city each year. Aggrieved property owners appear before him on grievance day and ask for adjustments. That has been the system used since Kingston was founded. I told you last Monday night that the cost of installing a scientific assessment system prohibits it at this time.

The Whalen Drug building was assessed in 1947 for $80,000. In 1948 the assessor applied the one-third increase to that assessment. The owner then appeared before the assessor and protested. He cited the National Ulster County Bank Building on the opposite corner, which had been reduced in 1947 from $60,000 to $45,000 by James H. Betts, then assessor, and now Democrat candidate for Alderman-at-Large. The drug building owner claimed his assessment was too high in comparison to the assessment of other Wall street properties, many of which had been reduced in 1947 by Assessor Betts.

Assessor Swart reviewed the Whalen assessment and fixed it at $93,000, an increase of $13,000 over the previous year.

I ask you, ladies and gentlemen, in all fairness, do you think we can be honestly accused of favoring this property owner, as charged by the Democrats?

The opposition would have you believe that there is something shady and improper about adjusting assessments after the one-third increase had been applied. They know that they constantly made assessment adjustments while they were in the City Hall and that assessments are never static and adjustments are made by all municipalities. They will continue to be made in this city no matter who is mayor. There is not now, and never has been, any mystery about that. What the opposition has failed to tell you is whose assessments they reduced while in the City Hall from 1942 to 1947? They have also failed to tell you what assessments were increased more than one-third during the past two years!

Point 3. Theatres. The two local Reade Theatres were assessed in 1946 at $300,000. Today they are assessed at $400,000, an increase of $100,000. In 1947, before I assumed office, the assessment on one was increased $40,000 because new seats were installed. In 1948, the owners protested the increase, claiming theatre seats were personal property and NOT real estate. The Corporation Counsel advised the assessor that under the law he could not assess seats because they are not real estate. The assessment was reduced accordingly and both theatres were then given an increase of one-third, the same as your property. An increase from $300,000 in 1946 to $400,000 in 1949 is a one-third increase, Mr. O'Neill.

Point 4. Now, let me tell you about the four out of town corporations which my Democrat opponent would lead you to believe escaped the one-third increase in assessments.

Listen to these figures carefully:

The New York Telephone Company assessment was $356,345 in 1947, and in 1948 it was increased to $501,800.

This is an increase of 41 per cent on which this company paid taxes this year.

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation was assessed $464,827 in 1947 and was increased in 1948 to $639,520. This was an increase of 37½ per cent on which this company paid taxes this year.

The American Tel. and Tel. Company assessment was $388,153 in 1947 and was increased to $625,370 in 1948, an increase of 61 per cent on which this company also paid taxes this year.

The New York Central Railroad assessment was $603,817 in 1947 and this was increased to $818,570 in 1948, and after they started a certiorari proceeding in the Supreme Court, it was fixed at $746,990, an increase of 23½ per cent.

The increases in assessments of these four companies averaged 38½ per cent while your assessments were increased 33 1/3 per cent.

These four companies paid taxes this year on those assessments. Their total real estate tax payments to the city this year totaled $96,826.36. In addition, these same four companies paid into the city treasury thousands of dollars in franchise taxes.

In 1948, out of a total city tax collection of $679,000, these same four companies paid $75,716.57 in real estate taxes and $58,283.43 in franchise taxes, a total of $134,000. This is 1/5 of all the taxes received by the city that year. Is that favoritism?

Does this indicate that we have favored these four companies, as charged by the Democrat candidate?

Now, let me tell you what happened after we had increased the assessment of these four companies and after they had paid their 1949 taxes based on those increased assessments:

In 1948, the New York State Tax Commission completed its survey of property in the Towns of Ulster county and in the City of Kingston. This check was made to determine the ratio between the assessed valuation of real property and the fair market value of each parcel for the purpose of establishing new equalization rates for the towns and the City of Kingston. Upon the completion of this study, new equalization rates were established by the state. The city's rate was changed from 75 per cent to 60 per cent. This change indicated that properties in this city were generally assessed at 60 per cent of their full market value.

After the state announced this reduction, the public utilities protested their assessments, claiming that because of the previous 33 1/3 increase in their assessments, and based on the new equalization rate of 60 per cent, their properties were assessed at more than 100 per cent of their true market value and at a far higher percentage of their value than the rest of the property in the city. The appraisals made by the State Tax Commission substantiated that claim.

Court review of these assessments was threatened unless they were reduced. To defend court actions, the city would have to engage highly qualified, expensive, technical experts to appraise all of the properties of the telephone company, the railroad and the gas and electric company. This would have been a terrific undertaking and would have cost the city thousands and thousands of dollars in fees and expenses. It would have involved a long, costly court battle with every probability that the city would lose because of the appraisals of the State Tax Commission.

Facing this situation, a compromise was reached which saved a substantial portion of the increases that had been made in the assessments of these companies. The result is that in 1950, these companies will pay taxes on assessments equal to 75 per cent of the true value of their property.

You, however, will not pay your 1950 taxes on such a high percentage as that. You will not pay taxes on an assessment equal to 75 per cent of the sale price of your property. I ask you, how many home owners in this city would be willing to sell their homes at the price at which they are assessed?

Ladies and gentlemen, the facts absolutely disprove that we favored any class of property owner. However, let us look at the record a little further:

The Democrat party has failed to tell you that when Candidate Betts was assessor in 1944, under the previous Democrat administration, he reduced the assessments of the American Tel. and Tel. by $192,741 and the assessments of the New York Telephone Company by $250,227.

The records in the Assessor's office do not disclose why Assessor and Candidate Betts gave these large reductions to these two public utilities. Neither do I know why he did it.

Just because he is now a candidate for public office on the Democrat ticket is no reason for me to charge that he was motivated by some selfish, improper or unworthy motive.

I am not one who would assassinate the character of any fellow citizen just to be elected Mayor of Kingston.

Now, I want to talk to you about a real case of favoritism.

The American Ice Company owned a parcel of dock property on Abeel street that was assessed in 1946 for $1,000.00. In 1947 it was purchased by candidate O'Neill and the assessment immediately was dropped to $300.00. That was a reduction of 70 per cent. Was that a quiet back room deal? Who made the reduction? James H. Betts, the present Democrat candidate for Alderman-at-Large and the running mate of this property owner O'Neill who now has the effrontery to talk to you about favoritism in assessments. Was O'Neill one of the "political pets" that he himself was going to tell you about?

Is this an example of the "BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION" he would give you?

Now, let me ask the Democrat candidate for mayor some questions. The people of this city will be interested in his replies.

Where does HE stand on a public housing project for Kingston?

According to the Ulster County News, the Democrat candidate for Alderman in the 12th Ward in a speech at a Democrat rally at Forsyth Park last week said that the Democrat party is in favor of a public housing project for Kingston but was opposed to locating it in the 12th Ward because, as he claimed, it would depreciate property values there.

The Democrat candidate for Mayor was on the same platform when this speech was made. Does he agree with that statement?

Democrats in the 12th Ward are talking against housing. On the other hand, the Democrat candidate in the downtown wards are telling the voters they are in favor of housing.

Is the Democrat candidate for mayor going to tell us where HE stands on this issue?

And let me ask him another question which I asked him last Monday night: What items in the 1949 Budget would he have eliminated to reduce taxes in this city?

And one last question: On last Thursday night the Democrat candidate for Mayor told you that he was truthful, honest and frank. Why then does he place on his campaign literature the fact that he is the Democrat and Liberal candidate for Mayor and omit the fact that he is the American Labor Party candidate, after he filed an acceptance for that party in the Board of Elections?

So far as I am concerned, I began this campaign with the expectation of discussing the issues involved, but because of the unjust and false accusations made against me, it was necessary for me to bring to your attention the true facts which I have always done and intend to continue to do.

Was it "Political Favoritism" when in 1947 then Democrat Assessor Betts gave his running mate, Candidate O'Neill, a 70% decrease on property owned by you, Mr. 70% O'Neill? Are you a "Political Pet," Mr. O'Neill?

Was it a "quiet back room deal" and "secret preferential treatment" when in 1944 Democrat Assessor Betts, now Democrat candidate Betts for Alderman-at-Large, lowered assessments on the American Telephone Company and the New York Telephone Company to the extent of $450,000?

REFUTING A RECKLESS, UNFAIR CHARGE!

In a radio address on Thursday night, the Democrat candidate for Mayor professed to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

He then proceeded to create the false impression that while assessments generally were raised last year, no increase was made in the assessments of four public utilities!

HIS CHARGE IS ABSOLUTELY FALSE!

The assessments of these four public utilities were increased more than YOUR assessment.

HERE ARE THE FACTS ASSESSMENTS FOR

	1948 Tax	1949 Tax	Per Cent Increase
New York Telephone Co.	$ 356,345.00	$ 501,800.00	41
American Tel. & Tel.	388,153.00	625,370.00	61
Central Hudson G. & E. Co.	464,827.00	639,520.00	37½
New York Central R. R.*	603,817.00	746,990.00	23½
	$1,813,142.00	$2,513,680.00	38½ Av.

YOUR ASSESSMENT WAS INCREASED 33⅓%.

The combined assessments of these four companies were increased more than 33⅓%.

These four companies paid in real estate taxes to the city this year $21,109.79 more than they did last year, as follows:

	'48 Taxes Paid	'49 Taxes Paid
New York Telephone Co.	$14,880.00	$19,329.00
American Tel. & Tel.	16,210.00	24,089.00
Central Hudson G. & E.	19,411.18	24,634.31
New York Central R. R.	25,215.39	28,774.05
	$75,716.57	$96,826.36

In addition to the $96,826.36 which these four companies paid in real estate taxes, they also paid the city thousands of dollars in franchise taxes.

Last year, these four companies paid in real estate and franchise taxes 19% of the total taxes collected by the city.

DOES THIS INDICATE THAT THESE COMPANIES RECEIVED FAVORED TREATMENT, AS CHARGED BY THE DEMOCRAT CANDIDATE?

THE EFFECT OF KINGSTON'S NEW EQUALIZATION RATE NEXT YEAR

This year, the New York State Tax Commission Re-appraised real estate throughout Ulster county and established new equalization rates.

Kingston's rate was reduced from 75% to 60%.

After increasing assessments 33⅓%, it was found that the utility companies were assessed at over 100% of the value of their property according to the rates fixed by state appraisers. No property under the law may be assessed more than 100% of its value.

The state's appraisers found utility properties assessed at a far higher percentage of their true value than other property.

Most other properties in Kingston are assessed for less than 50% of what their owners would sell them for.

The utility companies under the law can compel a reduction in their assessments to the same level as other properties.

Threatened with costly court action, the assessor was compelled to reduce the companies assessment base for next year's tax to values indicated by the State Tax Commission's appraisals.

The cost of such certiorari proceedings would be thousands of dollars more than will be lost in taxes because of these reductions.

These four companies in 1950 will pay taxes on assessments at a much higher percentage of the value of their properties than is true in the case of the average home owner.

*The New York Central Assessment was increased to $818,570 but reduced to $746,900 after a court action.

RAYMOND J. MINO
FOR CITY JUDGE

Planning Board

of "available volunteer groups and interested individuals."

Maps are necessary, he said, and City Engineer Hallman already has one available for the initial purposes of the board. An "official map" is adopted by the board later and future changes are made by amendments.

Pattern for Growth

A comprehensive master plan is an important step of a planning board, he stressed, and this serves as "the pattern for future growth."

Points to be considered are economic factors as they affect industry, agriculture and commerce, proper housing, major and minor highways, transportation systems, zoning, school locations, waste disposal, water supply and cultural aspects, including the recreational. Of immediate importance locally, he said, are the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge, the crossing elimination, the super-highway, encroachment on "our civic center," by gas stations and junk yards, destruction of shade trees, public safety controls, traffic, housing, and increasing the wealth and culture of the community.

A primary function of such a board, the speaker said, is not to "promote public improvements," but its job is "that of guidance in public improvements."

Many Problems

Edward K. LeFevre, the first to speak, said the "city will be affected in many ways by many large problems, which are 'best understood by a planning board.' Zoning as we have it on a 'spot basis' would be bettered through planning, he suggested, and many other community problems solved. The city has an obligation to plan for future generations. LeFevre said, and the "value of well-planned land in cities is a matter of record." The question, he emphasized, is "whether we can afford to be without one."

Needed 30 Years Ago

Capt. Hickey stressed that the city should have had a planning board 30 years ago. He mentioned having seen a street in a city recently with "nothing but gas stations," and it is possible that we will find the same on Broadway here unless the city plans. He pointed to the slow growth of the city as a major problem to be considered and among others, he stressed, "the city should be prepared to hook up with the thruway."

Albert Kurdt, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said he was speaking as a taxpayer as well as for the chamber, and stressed that lack of planning was a serious drawback "in efforts to obtain new industries for the city."

Establishment of a planning board, he said, would overcome another obstacle in the effort to bring growth to the city through new industry.

Hopes Council Will Agree

Richard M. Kalish, chairman of the city zoning board, said that the zoning rules date back to 1927, and it is often a difficult task to assist those who seek help on the zoning question today. He said he was wholly in favor of a planning board and felt that it was needed 25 or probably 30 years ago, and he hoped the Common Council would approve it.

W. L. Riden, secretary of the Kingston Taxpayers' League, his organization favored a planning board established on a non-political basis, and he suggested it be composed of men from the city's service clubs, and other representative organizations and commercial groups.

Others who spoke briefly for the proposal were Edwin T. Strong, district manager of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., Victor H. Roth, Warren F. Smith, Raymond W. Garrahan, and James P. Byrne.

Need Community Spirit

Dr. Robinson, who was the last to talk, stressed that the board should be made up of "people of community spirit—those who are interested in the well being of the city." Professionally trained men have been found to serve: architects, engineers, landscape engineers, and he cited one instance in which he found "one city well served by a retired physician."

Legislative bodies, he said, are usually unable to send men to other cities to study certain problems, and in such instances a well thought-out program of a planning board is helpful.

Veterans of the last war "who have seen two-thirds of the earth's surface," he said, and who have ideas as to important changes, have been found to make excellent planning board members, as have real estate men, contractors and others close to community life.

It is important, he stressed, "to try to get together all facts before you act."

Chairman Martin before closing the hearing thanked all who attended, and especially thanked Deputy City Clerk Harry C. Seitz, who took the minutes of the session.

Martin in opening the hearing, read Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk's July letter asking the Common Council to authorize a planning board, and one from the Chamber of Commerce asking similar action.

Asks Murray to Meet

Cleveland, Oct. 26 (AP)—The left C.I.O. United Electrical asked C.I.O. President Philip Murray today to meet with its representatives in an effort to patch up bitter differences between the two. In a telegram from New York, Julius Epstein, secretary-treasurer of the U.E., suggested that the internal squabble be settled in order that the C.I.O. convention next week can concentrate on other matters.

Medicos Endorse Dulles

Garden City, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP)—The Nassau County Medical Society last night shattered a precedent and reportedly a lot of tempers by endorsing Sen. John Foster Dulles for election. At an executive session, which members described as stormy, the society passed a resolution backing the Republican candidate "because of his unequivocal stand in opposition to socialized medicine." The vote was not announced.

Housing Project Is the less seriously injured, said she had been smelling gas for several days in the housing unit.

Mrs. Ruth T. Morrel, manager of the project for the Dallas Housing Authority, said that she knew of no complaints about leaking gas in the building.

Shannon said the explosion "knocked us down and covered us up with wreckage. It blew my boy up in the air."

The blast lifted the roof off the building and dropped it back, completely wrecking all four apartments.

Shannon, his wife and child were in the apartment. They were not seriously injured.

E. O. Wilson, who said he lived across the street from the one-story building, said:

"I ran across the street and pulled four people out of the wreckage. They were bent up pretty bad. One was a little girl."

United Church . . .

The local campaign will include Hurley Reformed Church, Ponckhockie Congregational, Reformed Church of the Comforter, First Dutch Reformed, Fair Street Reformed, First Presbyterian, Trinity Lutheran, Roundout Presbyterian and Wurts Street Baptist Church, Redeemer Lutheran, Temple Emanuel, Ahavath Israel, First Baptist, St. John's Episcopal and Trinity Methodist.

An outgrowth of the United Church Canvass and sponsored by a laymen's committee headed by Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric Company, Religion in American Life is the first campaign of its kind to enlist the collaboration of the Advertising Council, Mr. Matthews said.

Nationally, the campaign has the support of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, the Synagogue Council of America, and 18 other religious bodies, he said.

An organization created by American business during World War 2 to help win the peace and continued since the war to function along a number of lines of public service, the Advertising Council has allocated to the Religion-in-American-Life campaign radio time contributed by networks and sponsors and advertising space contributed by newspapers and out-door advertising companies.

Locally, the chairman said, it is planned to augment the contributed advertising, by employing cards, special displays in store windows, and other forms of public appeal.

"The campaign's goal," he continued, "will be to bring to the attention of everyone the importance of religion and of religious institutions and to awaken in every individual an awareness of his own responsibility to attend and support the church or synagogue of his choice."

Judge Mino Gives Talk on City Court; Seeking Election

That the city court handles and disposes of matters involving more serious offenses and crimes than traffic charges and public intoxication cases, was brought out in a speech Tuesday evening by Judge Raymond J. Mino, seeking election to the office on the Republican ticket.

Judge Mino at present occupies the bench by virtue of appointment by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, and has been presiding over the court for more than six months.

Tracing the history of the courts back to the days of 1195 in England, Judge Mino said in part: "Today the City Court has both civil and criminal jurisdiction. It has civil jurisdiction to dispose of litigation involving a sum not greater than $500.00. In addition to this, it has criminal jurisdiction to dispose of many offenses summarily, to try and determine certain crimes and, in the first instance, to act upon many of the more serious crimes designated as felonies."

It also has the power to dispose of matters relative to the non-support of wives and children, of determining if a juvenile is a wayward minor of holding youths between the ages of 16 and 19, in certain cases, as youthful offenders rather than have them suffer the stigma of a criminal record, of summarily deciding the rights of landlords to evict tenants, which, by the way, is a most important function in these days of low-cost housing shortages. Its importance in our community can best be realized when we learn that it disposes of more cases annually, both civil and criminal, than our Supreme Court and County Court combined.

The city judge must also deal with, advise and attempt to settle and adjust disputes between husband and wife, between parent and child and other domestic relations, disputes between neighbors, disputes arising between parties to a sale or bargain, between employer and workman, and many other problems, all of which are vital and important to the individual involved and all of which involve human relations.

"The city judge must possess a high degree of patience with human beings, and above all else, must have a judicial mind, that weighs carefully the rights of human beings and can brush aside the bickerings with which men seek to belaud the true issue. In many cases there often are certain extenuating circumstances which do not appear on the face of the cold record. He must be able to weigh these circumstances carefully and sympathetically so that he can mete out true justice."

In all my decisions and at all times, I have tried to put myself in the other fellow's place so that I might better understand his difficulty and problem and could, therefore, be able to assist him and help him solve his problem whatever it might be.

Mrs. Iard Elected Horse Show Head

Woodstock, Oct. 26—At a special meeting of the board of directors, Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., last week, Mrs. George M. Iard was elected chairman of the horse show committee. Other elections which took place included Mrs. Horst Cutler, Kingston, as steward of the show which is expected to be the first of its kind in Ulster county to be licensed by the American Horse Show Association.

Additional several committees also were named. Mrs. Mervin Doremus is named as acting chairman, membership committee, and will be assisted by Mrs. Virgil Van Wageningen and Mrs. Virgil Heick. Mr. and Mrs. Heick were also included on the entertainment committee as was Mrs. Van Wageningen. Mrs. Herlick will assist as grounds committee. During a regular meeting of the organization following that of the directors, Ferd Gildersleeve, Kingston, was elected to membership in the club. Mrs. Samuel Adams, Saugerties, was elected to the new office of assistant treasurer.

It was announced by Felicia Van de Bont that weather permitting, activities were being planned for Sunday between 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. at the club's ring. Members were urged to be present Sunday afternoon, October 30, when the site for a future clubhouse and well would be selected.

Playhouse Owners Will Not Change

Woodstock, Oct. 26—Michael Linenthal, managing director of the Woodstock Playhouse stated this week that the recent negotiations for the sale of the theatre had been canceled. Because of numerous rumors in this regard, Linenthal said he felt it necessary to comment that the Playhouse ownership will remain exactly the same as in the past. As to the future policy at the theatre, nothing definite could be gained from Mr. Linenthal who did, nevertheless, remark that plans already in process of formulation promise to make the Playhouse the seat of a national project of great importance. Speculations on this information lead one to believe that the national project mentioned, may be none other than the Margaret Webster Shakespearean Company who it has been rumored is considering making Woodstock its permanent headquarters.

Volunteer Leaders Are Heart of Scout Movement in U. S.

The volunteer adult worker is the heart of the Boy Scout movement, Myron Keefe, Ulster-Greene Council scout executive, told members of the Kingston Lions Club at their regular noon luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Tuesday.

The Boy Scouts of America employ only 2,200 professional leaders, Keefe said. The real strength of the organization is in the 165,000 volunteer leaders, he said. Lions Clubs work closely with the Boy Scouts; the scout executive pointed out. Different Lions Clubs sponsor 640 Cub packs, 1,836 Scout troops and 335 Explorer units in this country, he said.

Other figures recited by Keefe showed the strength of the Boy Scout movement in Ulster and Greene counties. In this council, he said, are 14 Cub packs with a membership of 246 boys 8 to 11 years old; 52 troops with a membership of 881 boys 11 to 14 or older, and five Explorer units for boys over 14.

At summer camp this year at Camp Tri-Mount, 137 enjoyed from one to four weeks of outdoor life. Special emphasis this year on the swimming program resulted in 43 non-swimmers being taught to swim at least 50 feet, he said. Better swimmers were taught to improve their water abilities, and 22 of the best swimmers were able before they left camp to swim one mile. This distance swimming was done under close supervision, each boy being accompanied by a boat, Keefe said.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

KISSING IN PUBLIC

A letter says: "As my fiancée and I live near each other, I stop by for her at the office at night and we drive home together. When she comes out of the building I greet her with a kiss. I have been severely criticized for this by some of my friends who say it is bad taste to show any display of affection in public. Will you please give me your opinion about this."

"There is really nothing wrong in doing as you do, so long as the kiss you give her is a mere greeting on the cheek."

Death Notices

Dear Mrs. Post: My wife died recently. While she was alive we traveled a good deal both here and abroad and acquired many friends. Many of these people do not know of my wife's passing and I would like to inform them of this but do not want to write personal notes to each. Would it be proper to have a card, such as the following, printed and mailed to these friends:

"Mr. Henry Smith regrets to inform you of the death of his wife, Mary Smith on (date)?"

Answer: In the first place it would be proper to send them only to those who knew her well, in which case you would write on your mourning bordered card by hand, "I am sure you will be sorry to hear of Mary's death and the date."

Continue to Wear Ring

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancée was killed in an automobile accident about a month ago. Is it proper for me to continue wearing my engagement ring, and if so, on what hand and finger should I wear it?

Answer: It is entirely proper for you to wear it, but it would be best to place it on your right hand to prevent people from asking when you are going to be married.

Act as Hostess

Dear Mrs. Post I am a school teacher. Should I rise when the principal of the school, a man, comes in to my classroom?

Answer: Yes, because you are in position of hostess who always rises to greet a visitor.

When is it necessary for a gentleman to remove his hat? When should he offer his arm, and should he remove his glove when shaking hands? Mrs. Post's leaflet, E-15 gives manners in public. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Century Club Visits Local Museums

Members of Twentieth Century Club visited the Senate House and Museum Monday afternoon instead of holding the usual study meeting. The members found the newly decorated rooms at the Senate House to have a cheerful air instead of their former gloom and the new decorations much in keeping with the spirit of the past.

Mrs. Malcolm Parrott welcomed the women at the doorway and was helpful in pointing out and explaining objects of special interest. The kitchen was found to be especially interesting. Primitive antique furniture in this room was explained as belonging to the first settlers of the country.

At the museum, Mrs. Mary Black Terwilliger gave a brief biography of John Vanderh and described the subjects and story of many of his paintings, in the Vanderh room, the gallery of his portraits has recently been enlarged by bequests from the Parrott and Cockendall estates.

The business meeting of the club was held at the home of Miss Alice Scandfield, 317 Cliff avenue. A resolution was adopted in memory of a devoted member of the club, Miss Sarah Harbrow. This was followed by a period of silent prayer.

Savoldi Flops Estep in 11 Minutes; Primo Carnera Heads Next Card

Ex-Heavyweight King Will Face Coast Star

Jumpin' Joe Savoldi still remembers his football tricks. The Notre Dame grad, immortal of the Kanto Rodeo period, resorted to his favorite wrestling maneuver, a flying dropkick, to flatten giant Elmer "Pappy" Estep, 400-pound Arkansas hillbilly, in the feature event last night at the municipal auditorium.

Only a sparse crowd braved the rain to see a show which featured the introduction of several new and interesting characters.

Carnera Next

Promoter Bill Johnston announced last night that Primo Carnera, the Antiling Alp and former world's heavyweight boxing champion, would headline next week's show against Hardy Kruskamp, California villain.

It required only 11 minutes, 15 seconds for Savoldi to reduce the jolly, colorful Estep into a shambles. Estep had entered the ring in dazzling new regalia of bright red wrestling trunks and green jersey and this time he wore shoes.

Savoldi bided his time while Estep threw the book at him in dirty tactics and under the counter stuff. Suddenly the former Fighting Irish fullback saw his opening. He leaped halfway across the ring and drove his feet half-way into Estep's bugging stomach (and if you have seen Estep that's quite a bulge). The hillbilly crumpled to the canvas and Savoldi quickly applied the coup de grace.

Talun Stops Finkelstein

Harry "Bad Man" Finkelstein's reign of terror ended abruptly in the semi-final against Yankyslaw Talun, a fearsome looking Polish giant who stands seven feet tall and weighs in at 300 pounds.

Talun applied a body crusher that rendered Finkelstein hors de combat in exactly 4 minutes, 50 seconds of the semi-final. The Bostonian complained that his back had been injured and Referee Harry Powers ordered the bout stopped.

In the second bout, Lou Sjoberg, 230, the latest Swedish importation and Chick Garibaldi, 215, of the famous clan, grappled 30 minutes to a roughhouse draw. The crowd ate this one up as the contestants threw the book at each other.

Talun Returns

Wally Dern, 220, a weird looking character who hails from Australia, tossed Mike Kolins, 220, of Boston in 17:50 of the curtain raiser. Dern applied a body twist for the crusher.

The officials were: Danny Powers, referee; Barney Williams and John McCarthy, judges; timekeeper, Rocco Biso and Dick McCarthy, announcer.

In addition to Carnera, next week's card will feature the return of the giant Talun, Wally Dern, the new French star, Monsieur Paris, and a couple of top villains in George "The Bull" Brickman and Chick Garibaldi.

Of the 65 members of Alabama's football squad, nine are seniors, 24 are juniors and 32 are sophomores.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The Bad Lands of Dutchess:

"So many out-of-town parents warn their over-zealous adventurous whippersnappers of the perils of New York city," wrote Zander Hollander, World-Telegram scholastic football specialist in his Monday article in which he stated that Pauline's perils were child's play compared with what New Dorp High of Staten Island encountered in Poughkeepsie last Saturday.

"Stay home, child," they tell their kids, Zander said. "Beware of the big city. Pitfalls await you. You'll wish you never left home. That's the usual theme, but there's a hearty gang of locals, who insist it's the other way 'round."

"How can they—New Dorp's footballers—figure otherwise after having luckily escaped unscathed from an upstate hamlet, Poughkeepsie, with the help of a police escort?"

The New York Version:

"An unruly group of 'Keopsie rooters,' Hollander continued, 'apparently enraged over New Dorp's 6-0 conquest of their favorites in the final four seconds of play Saturday, caused a riot and required the services of the gendarmes. And things reached such a state that the Staten Islanders were forced to shut all the windows in their bus as some of the 'Keopsie sharpshooters'—none of the players, mind you—fired away with stones."

"Such an unwholesome demonstration will probably mean the severance of all relations between the schools and why not? The winning score, on a one-yard plunge, led to all the combustion. Halfback Bob Guvney whisked across the goal line, then was tossed back five yards, but pay dirt had been reached, according to the officials, and naturally that's all that matters. Obviously the Northerners didn't think so, and it's fortunate there were no casualties. Especially so for the antagonists."

Mr. Hollander probably incorporated an occasional exaggeration in his report which he obviously received second hand. But it must have been quite a dilly at that. All of which adds up to a very intriguing date for K.H.S. in Poughkeepsie November 5. Referee McManus undoubtedly will not work. Wanna bet?

The Morning After You Win:

"Bo" Gill, with whom we disagree as a rule, on everything except the fact that neither of us can break 85 in golf, if the score is tallied correctly, celebrated N.E.A.'s smashing 14-0 victory over Kingston with remarkable restraint. For "Bo," that is. We figured "Bo" would give us the hottest treatment. Post-game developments proved him quite magnanimous.

"Newburgh Free Academy's 1949 football team came into its own Saturday with a sweet victory over Kingston," he chronicled for his many thousand readers. "We have known for the last weeks that Newburgh potentially had a great team. . . . But we wanted the boys to prove to the fans. . . . This they did Saturday."

"We told many of our friends that Newburgh should win the game by at least one touchdown. . . . Then the Old Boy Hoople stroled out on the limb to pick Kingston by 18-0."

"Using a pattern similar to Army's powerful T-formation, Newburgh has a devastating line. . . . Newburgh must face Middletown, Port Jervis and Kingston—AND must win all to gain the DUSO crown. Getting a team 'up' for one game is okay, but it's a tough task for a second meeting. Coach Hemmingsway faces that task now. . . . One is down, but a bigger one looms ahead."

Pick up the marbles, dear colleague, but wait until Thanksgiving Day!

College Football Boom Increases Attendance Four Per Cent Over '48

Penn Guard Named Lineman of Week

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—John "Bull" Schweder, University of Pennsylvania guard, gained national recognition today by being selected lineman of the week. Winner of the fifth Associated Press poll Schweder took top honors for his play against Navy on Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

Penn won, 28-7, principally because of a better line. And it was Schweder who led the drive of the Red and Blue forwards.

He was in on virtually every defensive play and threw a key block on Red's Bagnell's 74-yard touchdown return of a punt.

Schweder, the first guard to make the 1949 list of linemen of the week, is the son of Fire Chief John L. Schweder, of Bethlehem, Pa. He is 21, weighs 208 pounds and stands six feet in height. He specializes in blocking. He blocked four last year and one so far this season.

James "Froggie" Williams, Rice end, last week's lineman, almost did it again with his performance against Texas. He booted a game-winning field goal with only 10 seconds left. On two other occasions he bumped a Texas runner out of bounds on the Rice two for no gain and intercepted a fourth down pass when Texas again was on the Rice two.

La Vorn Torgerson, Washington State center, received high praise of his remarkable offensive and defensive play against U.C.L.A.

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—The college football boom continues with a four per cent attendance increase for the first half of the 1949 season.

A survey by the Associated Press of 303 games played by 111 teams in all sections of the nation reflects a nine per cent decline in the east but gains in all other sections including an eye-catching 23 per cent upswing in the southwest.

Michigan tops the list with 261, 717 for the first three sellouts at Ann Arbor where the stadium capacity has been increased from 87,000 to 97,235.

Ohio State packed in 219,189 for three home dates and California's unbeaten Golden Bears played to 233,500 in four home appearances. Television apparently has made little appreciable dent in their drawing power.

Southern Methodist, playing its games in the 72,000 capacity Cotton Bowl, has drawn 229,000 for four games. Stanford's total is 258,000 for five games and Southern California, the other school in the 200,000 class, has been seen by 209,005 in four home appearances.

Minnesota also belongs up with the leaders on averages for the Gophers drew 115,325 for two home games.

Pennsylvania, which usually sells out Franklin Field, dipped from 190,000 to 137,000 for its first three home starts. Columbia and Yale also dropped off at the gate in early season with losing teams.

Austin, Tex. (AP)—Fullback Louis Levine of the University of Texas celebrated his 21st birthday recently by scoring two touchdowns against Idaho, one of them on a 30-yard jaunt.

Crack Amateur Here Thursday

An 18-year-old Pennsylvania state amateur welterweight boxing champion, Tom Speaks, above, boasts a record of 19 victories in 21 starts, including 12 knockouts.

Speaks will be one of the featured boxers on the B'nai B'rith boxing show Thursday night at the municipal auditorium. He won the Pennsy amateur crown in 1947 and has remained undefeated since then.

Speaks has patterned his style after Ray Robinson, one of the great Negro boxers of our time. He says Ray has everything and he couldn't choose a better model. The Pennsylvania youth, who is also a keen football and baseball player, says he plans to turn professional next year.

Rohrbach Set

Speaks shares honors with Bruce Rohrbach, 18-year-old, 160-pounder, who rates as one of the outstanding boxers in the amateur ranks.

Rohrbach is matched with Tony Bell, Boston ace, who is a leading Eastern mauler. A left hook artist, Rohrbach is credited with 41 straight victories, including 26 knockouts. He is a graduate of John Harris High at Harrisburg, Pa., where he played football and basketball. He is the Middle Atlantic A.A.U. champion and should prove one of the finest amateurs ever seen in the local ring.

Rohrbach recently scored a knockout over Albert Anderson of the Quonset Naval Station, R. I., and that is proof enough of his calibre.

Another Pennsylvania standout is Ben Stewart, 18-year-old, 175-pounder, with 16 victories in 15 amateur starts, a powerful right hand and kayo wallop that has brought him 14 kayoes in 18 bouts.

Stewart is the Central Pennsylvania lightweight champion who claims Joe Louis as his favorite boxer—and a few will disagree with him. Baseball and football are his other sport loves.

Four area gladiators will vie with the Pennsylvanians for the plaudits here tomorrow night. Heading the list is Libby Manzillo, of Jeffersonville, who has advanced from a prelim fighter to semi-finalist. Manzillo is down for a brawl with Willie Smith of Poughkeepsie and brawl is probably the word for it.

Jim Hardy, Canaan kayo specialist, the hard working Rufus Rodgers of Albany and Harry Smith of the Berkshire School are other performers scheduled for Thursday.

First bout starts at 9 p. m.

La Starza Seeks 36th Straight Boxing Win

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—Roland La Starza, unbeaten, young New York heavyweight, goes after his 36th victory tonight when he meets veteran Walter Hafer of Mayville, Ky., in the main tenrounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

A big money shot in Madison Square Garden may be La Starza's reward if he wins decisively in two and a half years of pro fighting, the good looking, 22-year-old boxer has compiled 35 victories, mostly over easy opposition.

La Starza is a heavy favorite over the oft-beaten Hafer.

Kramer Defeats Gonzales in Three Sets in Pro Debut

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—Even if he never beats Jack Kramer in their professional tennis tour, Richard (Pancho) Gonzales is going to have a lot of fun and make a lot of money.

They launched the tour in Madison Square Garden last night and Kramer showed that he still is the best tennis player in the world by drubbing the 21-year-old Mexican-American youth, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

But the crowd of 13,357 fans who came out on a rainy night and contributed to a gross rate of $41,126 at $8 tops rode with Gonzales all the way.

Cries of "come on Pancho" echoed from the galleries frequently. The cheers were virtually all for the husky youngster who came off the public courts of Los Angeles and signed to come to the National Amateur title the past two years.

He needs experience against a player of Kramer's calibre, something he'll be getting regularly on the tour that will touch at least 90 cities in the next 12 months.

"I figure that after eight or ten matches, I'll be on to Jack's game and then I'll be able to beat him regularly," Gonzales said after their initial meet.

Frank Parker, who is Kramer and Gonzales' amateur champion, was successful in his first professional match, beating Pancho in 18 months, 6-1, 6-1.

The tour will be in Madison Square Garden, New York, where the boys will play their first professional match.

Speculation Seen On Best Way to Remove Denfeld

Friends Say That Admiral Intends to Remain; Presidential Action Is Needed

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP)—Speculation around the Pentagon today was that the administration is trying to figure out just how to remove Admiral Louis Denfeld from his command of the Navy.

Those doing the speculating took it for granted that a top level decision has been reached to drop Denfeld. A Pentagon huddle yesterday was followed by a meeting between President Truman, Secretary of Defense John-son and Secretary of the Navy Matthews.

Out of these meetings grew the speculation that the problem now had become one of the method by which Denfeld would be relieved—and whether there might be other changes. There are a number of other highly-placed naval officers who, like Denfeld, quarreled with the way service unification works out for the navy. They, too, were witnesses in the House Armed Services Committee hearings on the military forces' quarrel.

There was no immediate indication of how the administration might go about asking for Denfeld's resignation or directing his ouster. Friends of Denfeld said the admiral so far has given every evidence of intending to remain until removed, that he doesn't intend to resign from his job as chief of naval operations, to which he had just been reappointed for another two-year term.

No Precedent

There is no recent precedent for ousting a military officer of Denfeld's rank and position. Like the chiefs of staff of the other services, he was appointed by the President, with confirmation by the Senate. Thus, it would take presidential action to remove him.

Significance was seen in the fact that when Johnson called a meeting to consider "lessons to be learned" from the House committee investigation he invited only the civilian heads of the armed forces and his own deputy and assistant secretaries. No uniformed members from the quarreling joint chiefs organization—among them Denfeld—were invited.

From this Pentagon meeting Johnson and Matthews went almost directly to the White House to talk with the President. Johnson was cautious in talking to reporters. He disclaimed responsibility for the widely circulated reports that Denfeld was to be fired and insisted that "I am saying nothing now" that could support or deny it.

Met at Conference

But if Denfeld and Gen. Omar Bradley—who at the time was called "Fancy Dan"—admittedly wanted to run unification their own way—didn't meet in Johnson's office they did come face to face over a conference table in the afternoon.

The joint chiefs of staff then held their first meeting since Denfeld's criticism and Bradley's sharp-tongued reply shook the chamber.

When the three-hour and fifteen minute meeting was concluded Bradley was asked by reporters if it was harmonious. The general replied with one word: "Sure."

Heaviest Gale

London, Oct. 26 (AP)—The heaviest October gale in 25 years lashed Britain today. The wind drove small ships aground, smashed fishing craft and swept two fishermen to their deaths. An English channel steamer with 200 aboard was unable to go on to Dover or return to Dunkerque. The storm prevented its docking.

Strike Paralysis Spreads

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP)—The coal-strike paralysis spread today and spread its creeping paralysis further into business, but the White House said President Truman was not now inclined to step into the situation.

MISS LEGS—Libby Dean, 19, of Charlotte, N. C., has America's most perfect legs, according to a noted Hollywood hoser. They measure 8 1/2 inches at the ankle, 12 1/2 at the calf, and 19 1/2 at the thigh—all perfect measurements, say anatomy experts.

Court in Laughter At Romance Trial

Chicago, Oct. 26 (AP)—A Chicago widow, red-haired and demure, told a jury yesterday how she lost her heart and her $8,700 savings to Sigmund (Sam) Engel.

An overflow crowd in criminal court rocked with laughter at much of the widow's testimony about her romance with Engel, the self-admitted master of wooing women.

Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, the 39-year-old witness, did not intend to be funny. But the crowd roared as she went into details about the month-long fervid courtship by the 73-year-old white-haired Engel.

Telling of incidents in their faded summer romance, Mrs. Corrigan often turned to Engel, saying: "Isn't that so, Sam?" or "you remember that, don't you Sam?"

Judge George M. Fisher who is hearing the case before a jury of six men and six women, sometimes chuckled discreetly behind his hand when Mrs. Corrigan's answers brought objections.

Mrs. Corrigan, the state's first witness against Engel in his trial on a charge of operating a confidence game, told of Engel's love-making. "He kissed each of my fingers and my ears and neck," she testified. Then, blushing and laughing, she said Engel kissed her feet.

He told me he never loved anyone like that before," she said.

Justice Taylor Recedes Court Until Thursday

Jurors in attendance at the October trial term of Supreme Court were discharged from further duty this morning by Justice Donald S. Taylor and the court recessed until 10 o'clock Thursday morning when a case will be taken up by the court without a jury. At the conclusion of that case the term will be concluded, except for the taking of the grand jury report next week.

Additional cases announced set for the term are: No. 91, Thomas H. MacDonald against Leonard Palmer, negligence.

No. 208, Board of Education of Union Free School, District No. 1, against the County of Ulster, an action to recover school tax moneys.

Moved for trial Thursday before the court, the first of a jury in No. 74, a separation action brought by Mildred Levine against Louis Levine.

12 Towns Will Vote On Banning Alcohol

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—Twelve New York state towns will vote November 8 on whether to ban the sale of alcoholic beverages.

The State Liquor Authority gave this list, by counties, today of the towns in which local option votes will be taken:

St. Lawrence—Lisbon, Hermon, Do Posters, Macomb, Oswegatchie, Cayuga—Sterling and Scipio, Wyoming—Warsaw and Castile, Chautauque—Hamory, Niagara—Richford.

Local option petitions were filed from Riga, in Monroe county, and Hannibal, Oswego county, but were rejected in Supreme Court tests.

Cold Wave on Way

Chicago, Oct. 26 (AP)—Cool air from the northern plains pushed eastward across the Midwest today and headed for eastern states. Warm weather continued in the extreme southeast and extreme southwest parts of the country. The mercury was below freezing as far east as northern Illinois, the early morning low, the U. S. Weather Bureau reported, was 18 above at Rensselaer, N. D., near the Canadian border. Snow flurries fell in upper Michigan.

President to Talk

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP)—President Truman will address the nation by radio next Sunday night at approximately 11:25 o'clock (EST) on "Religion in American Life."

Reds See Spying

Say Tito's Ambassador Can No Longer Serve as Yugoslav Envoy

Moscow, Oct. 26 (AP)—Russia has charged Marshal Tito's ambassador to Moscow with anti-Soviet spying and declared that he can no longer serve as the Yugoslav envoy here.

A Soviet note delivered yesterday to the Yugoslav embassy said the Budapest treason trial of Hungary's former Foreign Minister Laszlo Rajk had revealed that Yugoslav Ambassador Karlo Mrazovic "had for a long time engaged in spying and subversive activities against the Soviet Union."

Mrazovic left Moscow for Yugoslavia in August and has not returned since, though technically he remains ambassador to the Soviet Union. It had been presumed he would return to the Russian capital eventually.

The Kremlin's note said also that Mrazovic "while being Yugoslav ambassador in the U.S.S.R., had come out in the Yugoslav press with slanderous fabrications against the Soviet Union."

Russia, the note concluded, considers it "impossible" for Mrazovic to continue to represent the Tito regime in the Soviet Union.

Only Woman Secretary Of State Dies at 75

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, 75, educator and only woman ever to hold the position of New York secretary of state, died today at Murey State Hospital.

She was committed to the hospital last week.

Mrs. Knapp was elected secretary of state November 4, 1924, and served for two years under the late Gov. Alfred E. Smith. In 1928 she was convicted of embezzling for misuse of county funds. She was sentenced to 30 days in Albany county jail.

Mrs. Knapp's husband, Philip Schuyler Knapp, died in 1933.

IT'S NOT UNFAIR, IT JUST SMELLS—If these pickets outside a varnish factory in Los Angeles win their battle it will be by a nose. Their complaint is that "this joint stinks." The teamsters' union members donned gas masks and took up picket signs to demand that the smog control board "do something" about the stench created by the plant.
